

Control and monitoring

Wiederholung

- identifiable agents can have access rights granted and revoked
- access requests of authenticated agents are intercepted by control components
- control components decide on allowing or denying an actual access

